Programme notes

This piece is based on the following poem:

Romance, who loves to nod and sing,
With drowsy head and folded wing,
Among the green leaves as they shake
Far down within some shadowy lake,
To me a painted paroquet
Hath been—a most familiar bird—
Taught me my alphabet to say—
To lisp my very earliest word
While in the wild wood I did lie,
A child—with a most knowing eye.
Of late, eternal Condor years
So shake the very Heaven on high
With tumult as they thunder by,
I have no time for idle cares
Through gazing on the unquiet sky.
And when an hour with calmer wings
Its down upon my spirit flings—
That little time with lyre and rhyme
To while away—forbidden things!
My heart would feel to be a crime
Unless it trembled with the strings.

EDGAR ALLAN POE

Performance notes

This being my idea, the performance can be adjusted according to the musicians' own ideas and the possibilities of the stage.

I. Violoncello solo and percussion

Ideally, the percussionist should play behind the cellist, his shadow should be a shadow;

II. Viola solo and percussion

The percussion player starts near the bass drum, pretending that it will not be an integral part of the piece. He displaces the bass drum in a sonorous manner as described in the score and ends near the viola.

III. String trio (+percussion)

Percussion player is out of the stage and string players play from their places. The percussion player only plays in the last bars, entering the other side of the stage;

IV. Violin solo and percussion (+viola and cello)

The violinist plays in his destined place on the stage and the percussionist must be behind him, like his shadow;

V. Viola, violoncello, and percussion (+violin)

Viola and violoncello in their usual places, the percussionist goes to where he played the I movement The violin player plays with his back to the audience.

VI. Solo percussion and string trio

The percussionist plays with his back to the audience, facing the cello. All musicians are facing each other;

VII. String trio

String players play from their places. Percussion player is out of the stage. Violin and viola leave the stage at the end of the movement. One for the left, other for the right;

VIII. Violoncello solo and percussion (+violin and viola)

The cello player and percussionist play facing each other. The rest of the players, play offstage.

Other notes are written in the score.

*Mallets/sticks ad libitum and may change over the mouvement.
Be creative with sound colors, but always on the mood of the piece.

If there are 4 susp. cymbals, better, if there are 2, change the sound with the sticks and the hitting place on the cymbal.
